

Siddharthya Roy

South Asia Correspondent, The Diplomat

Summary

Code coolie turned journalist turned something in between. I teach, write news reports and code. Went to Columbia J School and was given a Pulitzer Grant for conflict reporting in 2018

Honors-Awards

- Pulitzer Crisis Reporting Grant (2018)
- Charles Koch Fellowship (2018)
- Robert Bosch Stiftung, Indo-German Media Ambassador Fellowship (2018)
- Columbia Lydig Fellow (2016)

Languages

- English
- Bengali
- Hindi / Urdu
- Marathi
- Nepali (basic)
- Python
- JavaScript

Contact

Email: roy@thediplomat.com | sr3329@columbia.edu

Tel : +91 9172119084

Experience

December 2017 to present

Correspondent at The Diplomat and adjunct professor for data and investigative journalism at the SYMBIOSIS INTERNATIONAL UNIVERSITY

August 2017 - December 2017 (5 months)

Microsoft (MSN.com)
Associate Editor, Bing News (US and World)

August 2016 - August 2017

Columbia University - Graduate School of Journalism M.A. in Politics and Global Affairs

January 2015 – August 2016

Independent journalist, and columnist for Newslandry.com. Also fixer and stringer for international news outlets like Der Spiegel and NYT

March 2011 - January 2015

Feature writer for The Hindu, Sunday Mag

December 2004 – March 2011

Tech career, starting off as a coder for Dassault Systèmes, France, moved on to Morgan Stanley as a project manager, and then as head of IT in an enviro startup

Education

2016 - 2017

MA in Politics and Global Affairs
Graduate School of Journalism, Columbia University, New York

2000 – 2004

Bachelor of Engineering, University of Pune, India